"CORPUS CHRISTI"

Whenever we come to Mass and receive the Eucharist, we are making a number of important statements. We are acknowledging Jesus as our bread of life, as the one who alone can satisfy our deepest hungers. We are also declaring that we will throw in our lot with him, as it were, that we will follow in his way and be faithful to him all our lives, in response to his faithfulness to us. In that sense, celebrating the Eucharist is not something we do lightly.

We ought to want to receive Holy Communion worthily. A most important reason for this is because this Communion is "intimate union . . . with Christ" because "to receive communion is to receive Christ himself who has offered himself for us" (CCC 1382).

Our familiarity with the Mass and the frequency with which we celebrate it can dull our senses to the full significance of what we are doing. To prepare ourselves to receive Holy Communion worthily, "St. Paul urges us to examine our conscience: 'Whoever, therefore, eats the bread and drinks the cup of the Lord in an unworthy manner will be guilty of profaning the body and blood of the Lord. Let a man examine himself, and so eat of the bread and drink of the cup. For anyone who eats and drinks without discerning the body eats and drinks judgment upon himself' (1 Cor 11:27-29).

Anyone conscious of a grave sin must receive the sacrament of Reconciliation before coming to communion." (CCC 1385) We are called to prepare ourselves for a worthy reception of Communion. Remote preparation for Communion includes "regular prayer and reading of Scripture, the faithful and loving fulfillment of the daily responsibilities of our state in life, and regular participation in the Sacrament of Penance, including daily repentance of sin by an examination of conscience and recitation of the Act of Contrition." "Proximate preparation includes our prayerful recollection as we come to Mass and fasting from food and drinks for at least one hour prior to receiving Holy Communion as our health and age permit. . . . Proximate preparation also includes dressing appropriately and modestly." "These ways of preparing culminate in our prayerful and active participation throughout the Eucharistic celebration, as we join with the Body of Christ." If all the above are the case then wild horses should not keep us from Holy Communion.

Jesus continues to give himself as food and drink to his followers. He also continues to put it up to his followers to take their stand with him, to take in all he stands for, living by his values, walking in his way, even if that means the cross. Every time we gather for the Eucharist, we find ourselves once more in that upper room with the first disciples, and the last supper with all it signified is present again to us.
